Curriculum Details

Curriculum type : Local

Curriculum planning

We offer a child-centered Christian education with a focus on Bi-literacy and Tri-lingualism. With elements of whole-person education, our theme- and project-based teaching approach helps broaden children's learning experience across six major areas and empower them to learn through play and experience learning by doing. Also, we lay focus on their moral and spiritual development. In order to build a "Healthy, Happy Campus", we also include, in our curriculum design, parent-child activities and parents communication, teaching activities and elements of physical, mental and spiritual health, allowing children to realize whole-person development and lead a happy life. The school focuses on moral education, fundamental movements skills.

We will follow the "Kindergarten Education Curriculum Guide" (2017) to plan curriculum. Children of nursery classes will not be asked to write, and there will not be mechanical copying exercises and drills on calculation.

Learning / Teaching approach & activities

We enrich children learning experiences by using a multimedia learning platform. With project-based learning and theme-based teaching approaches, we extend children's learning areas, provide more exploring opportunities for children to enhance their problem-solving skills, and cultivate in them correct values and learning initiative. We adopt a teaching approach integrating a variety of activities including outdoor visits, simulation games, group experiments, English Day, Mandarin Day, etc., and specially employ professional English and Mandarin teachers, so that children can learn all-around knowledge in different language environments and attain whole-person development.

Assessment of children's learning experiences

Observations and records of children's development through continuous observation reports, learning progress and learning portfolios and self-assessment and feedback of stakeholders.
