Curriculum Details
Curriculum type : Local
Curriculum planning
We put "Personality First and Excellence Second", focusing on character cultivation. The curriculum focuses on moral education. As part of the inheritance of the Chinese culture, Students read classics, such as Ti Tzu Kui, The Three Character Classic, The Thousand Character Classic, The Great Learning, Lao Zi and Tang poetry. We also incorporate Cambridge English learning materials in our school-base curriculum, self-designed phonics and Multiple Intelligences (MI) programme. We have English, Mandarin, Music and Physical classes taught by professional teachers every day to develop children's Bi-literacy and Tri-lingualism and lay a solid foundation for future learning.
Learning / Teaching approach & activities
We implement group teaching, and organize outdoor visits, planting and regular performances for the Neighborhood Elderly Center. So that children can develop their learning initiative, self-confidence and learn to love one another while develop their social ability.
Assessment of children's learning experiences
Continuous observations and records of children's learning and growth and learning assessment reports three times a year.

School Characteristics
School vision and mission
The foundation of education is to teach students how to be human. The school puts "Personality First and Excellence Second". Under this motto, we aim to educate our children to become a person of talents and virtue. We help nurture in children a good character when they are a kid in addition to learning knowledge, one should learn to be filial to their parents, respect their elders and have a sense of propriety, justice, honesty and honor. The school pursues "Children's Reading Classics" education where children are exposed to Chinese classic literature from childhood so that they have an opportunity to absorb sages' wisdom, developing in children a good character and noble sentiments.
