Curriculum Details
Curriculum type : Local
Curriculum planning
Our school adopts a child-centered philosophy and follows the Kindergarten Education Curriculum Guide (2017) to design appropriate courses for children based on their developmental abilities, needs and interests. The school selects and tailors teaching materials to integrate the six learning areas such as language, physical fitness and health, self and society, early childhood mathematics, nature and living, art and creativity in order to form a comprehensive curriculum to foster balanced development of children. We will follow the "Kindergarten Education Curriculum Guide" (2017) to plan curriculum. Children of nursery classes will not be asked to write, and there will not be mechanical copying exercises and drills on calculation.
Learning / Teaching approach & activities
Theme-based learning approach, supplemented by project approach and whole book approach, which are experience-based learning modes, are adopted. Responding to the Kindergarten Education Curriculum Guide 2017 and the trends of social development, we reinforce to nurture self-directed learning in children and let the children to explore and learn through play. During the daily free play time, children can enjoy designed corners related to the theme. They can also explore the common materials and cooperate with their partners to apply their existing experience to build new knowledge and skills. Teachers promote children's learning outcomes through individual scaffolding, group learning and group discussion. One physical coach is employed. Children are fostered to enjoy sports by having rhythmic movements and dance, group games and creative games. Native Mandarin and English-speaking tutors use stories and nursery rhymes to stimulate children's motivations and interests in learning a second language.
Assessment of children's learning experiences
The school adopts a continuous assessment and prepares a unit performance evaluation form to record the performance of children. Teachers also collect evidences from observations on daily school life, exploration through play, anecdotal records, coursework and works. Parental feedback is also collected as reference. The unit assessment form reflects the learning performance and development progress of children in various themes during the year. Teachers design the family observation part in different themes and invite the parents to share and fill in the children's knowledge and skills in the daily life. Both teachers and parents have a close information exchange on the performance and development of children and serve as a reference for curriculum design and parenting.
